Introduction

An encouragement love letter is written between partners. It is used to encourage a hesitant or unsure partner to get more involved in a relationship which is still in the nascent stage promising that they could have a bright future together.

The individual should use words strong enough to convince the partner to spend time and effort on building their relationship.

Encouragement Love Letter Tips

Here are some useful tips to write an encouragement love letter:

- Start the letter by telling her frankly about your feelings and say that you two are good together and should do your best to let the relationship grow further.
- Explain to her about how you realized that your feelings for her are nothing but love.
- Convince her that her actions indicate that she too feels the same for you.
- Request her to accept your love and end by saying that you hope to spend your lifetime together,

Sample Encouragement Love Letter

Dear Suzy,

I am writing this letter to let you know my feelings for you in a hope that you agree that we are good together and should try our best to let our relationship grow and come a step closer towards spending our lives with each other.

The temporary separation due to my three month long overseas duty gave me clarity on where our friendship was heading to. I have called you everyday and spend all my free time thinking about you. You are the only person close to me with whom I share my feelings and also take advice when I am confused.

I sense love and concern from your side as well during our conversations especially after you told me yesterday that you miss me and want me to get back soon. We are both mature enough and understand that this mutual feeling is nothing but love.

Please accept my love for you. I could not wait to express my love till we met. I expect a positive reply from your side at the earliest.

Take care,

Edmund
